Introduction

Thank you for choosing to become a MITO Independent Registered Assessor for the transport and logistics industries. If you need any help or advice about your role as a MITO Registered Assessor, please contact a MITO National Assessor on 0800 88 21 21.

As a MITO Registered Assessor you will be assessing the unit standards which reflect your area of expertise.

Driver Licensing and Licence Endorsement

To be registered to assess unit standards to issue driver licence classes and/or driver licence endorsements, you need approval from the NZ Transport Agency to become a NZTA course provider. Contact details can be found on the NZ Transport Agency website. If the application to NZTA is not successful, your application to MITO will correspondingly be declined.

Your Responsibilities

As a MITO Registered Assessor you are required to:
Meet all health and safety requirements appropriate to the unit standard being assessed and comply with the Health and Safety at Work Act 2015, and all other relevant regulations and procedures including site safety before, during and after completing assessments.
For assessment for driver licensing and endorsement purposes, understand and agree to comply with the requirements of the NZTA Statement of Approval Conditions for course providers.
Ensure that you comply with the principles of the privacy act 1993, particularly in respect to the storage and disposal of personal information.
For driver licensing and endorsement assessment, maintain valid and current driver licences and endorsements for assessing the unit standards in your scope and advise MITO of any change to the current status of your driver licence.
Comply with all policies, procedures, standards and requirements which relate to MITO Registered Assessors as described in this Code of Practice.
Demonstrate the necessary skill and knowledge required to make competent assessment judgements and/or carry out assessments in an objective, impartial and professional manner.
Provide learners with original, authentic learning and assessment resources.
Only assess the unit standards listed on your MITO Registered Assessor scope.
Keep your skills and knowledge up-to-date in the areas you are assessing and maintain certificates or any other qualifications or requirements for assessing the unit standards in your scope.
Participate in visits from MITO to conduct assessment observation when scheduled.
Complete and maintain all assessment documentation in accordance with MITO's requirements. Assessment documentation is to be retained for a period of two years from the date of assessment.

Assess at least 20 unit standard assessments per annum. This requirement may be reduced if you only assess unit standards for a specialised purpose outside of driver licensing and endorsement unit standards. This will be determined on a case by case basis.

Participate in moderation as requested by MITO.

Report all results to MITO according to MITO's reporting requirements.

Keep your contact details updated with MITO. You must return calls and emails to you as requested by MITO.

Achieve moderation outcomes in line with MITO's objective of nationally consistent, quality assessment decisions.

Let MITO know about anything which may affect your role as a MITO Independent Assessor. For example, if you:

- wish to be de-registered
- change your assessor status
- are awaiting the hearing of charges against you in a civil or criminal court of law.

Help learners and/or MITO where required with resolving appeals against assessment results.

Declare any conflict of interest which arises while you are a MITO Registered Assessor.

Professional Standards

As a MITO Registered Assessor you are obliged to abide by professional standards. Failure to do so may result in de-registration.

You must:

- undertake your assessment duties professionally, honestly and ethically, while respecting the rights of others
- conduct all written and verbal communications with any individual or organisation you have contact with in your role as a MITO Registered Assessor in a respectful and professional manner
- respect learners' privacy by only disclosing their personal or academic information to authorised parties
- not ask for or accept gifts, rewards or benefits that may compromise or be seen to compromise your integrity, or the integrity of your role
- not behave in a manner that may bring MITO into disrepute when assessing on behalf of MITO
- take reasonable care with the security of information relating to assessments
- keep your MITO assessor stamp in a secure place.

Up-skilling

You must be committed to up-skilling in areas which are relevant to your role as an assessor. This includes up-skilling in assessment practice and in your area of expertise as appropriate. You must participate in an up-skilling session on MITO assessment and moderation policies and procedures at least once every three years.

If you need advice on up-skilling, please contact a MITO National Assessor on 0800 88 21 21.

Conflict of Interest

A conflict of interest must be declared when you have a private, personal or business interest which could influence your objective professional judgement and/or your responsibilities to MITO as outlined in this manual. A good test of whether or not something could be seen as a conflict of interest is whether others would trust your judgement if they knew the situation or relationship existed. For example, if you were required to assess a learner who is a family member it would constitute a potential conflict of interest and should be declared. Another example of a conflict of interest situation which should be declared is if you have a personal or employment issue with a workplace where you are required to assess.

You completed a Conflict of Interest form when you applied for registration or re-registration.

Please note

If any new conflicts of interest arise during your registration period, you must immediately bring these to the attention of MITO using the Conflict of Interest form.

If you are unsure of what may be a real or potential conflict of interest, contact a MITO National Assessor on 0800 88 21 21.

Conflict of interest situations will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis and MITO will work with you to resolve the issue. For example, another assessor may be appointed to carry out assessment for the affected learner or workplace. We will notify you of the outcome of a conflict of interest evaluation.

Please note that where the conflict of interest cannot be resolved, de-registration is a possible outcome.

Assessing Scope

MITO gives you authorisation to assess learners against the unit standards in your scope. Your scope relates to industry areas in which you are considered a technical expert.

The unit standards that you are authorised to assess are listed on your scope. If you would like to extend your assessing scope, apply through the MITO Registered Assessor portal.

Please note that MITO has no obligation to include unit standards that you request on your scope.

MITO Registered Assessor Stamp

You must use your assessor stamp on all assessments you carry out as a MITO Registered Assessor.

You must only use your MITO Registered Assessor Stamp on assessment documentation for credits reported through MITO and only to indicate a 'Competent' result. Your assessor stamp should not be applied to any other documentation.

The stamp you are issued remains the property of MITO, and must be returned if you are de-registered.

When you use your stamp, you must ensure that the stamp mark left on the learner assessment document clearly shows your registration number.

It is essential that you keep your MITO Registered Assessor Stamp in a secure place.

Assessment

MITO Registered Assessors assess learners against unit standards for which MITO has consent to assess. MITO assessment is aligned to NZQA Best Practice Principles for the Assessment of Unit Standards.

When conducting assessment you must:

- ensure approved assessment materials are used
- evaluate all evidence submitted for assessment
- Verify the learner's identity prior to assessment commencing against their photo driver licence for assessment of driver licensing and endorsement unit standards. If the learner has a paper (temporary) driver licence, identity may be verified by alternative photographic identification such as a passport. Where this is not possible identity may be verified by comparing the learner's signature against another document

- take all reasonable steps to ensure that courses are conducted in a proper manner and are not compromised in any way by cheating, impersonation of candidates, or in any other manner
- assess in accordance with MITO's requirements and ensure all assessments are conducted fairly, validly and consistently
- actively supervise trainees for theory and observed practical assessments for the duration of assessment at all times
- report the results to MITO through the assessor portal within 10 working days.

MITO may arrange for a visit to observe assessment in practice. You will be contacted to arrange a suitable time for this to take place.

Providing Effective Feedback

It is important to provide learners with constructive feedback about their performance, such as:

- keep the feedback private. Make sure that you are not going to be interrupted and that you both have time for the discussion
- tell the learner why something was good, or why it was not up to standard and what they can do to make it better. Try to leave the learner motivated to improve if this is necessary
- if it is necessary, give the learner the opportunity to collect more evidence and/or add explanatory annotations to fill gaps, and where possible avoid repeating the assessment process. Professional judgement should be used to determine when this is appropriate, and when re-assessment is appropriate
- provide praise where it has been earned to build the learner's confidence in their skills.

Assessment Resources

All MITO, Tranzqual and EXITO branded material is copyrighted to MITO. The reproduction and resale of this material is strictly prohibited. You must not copy MITO resources, or store electronic copies in any information retrieval system.

All self-developed or purchased material which is not MITO material, and which you intend to use to assess the unit standards in your scope must be submitted to MITO for pre-assessment moderation before use. There is a charge for each submission of material for pre-assessment moderation. Please contact MITO for details.

Assessment Documentation

Your assessment decision must be transparent, i.e. it must be clear on the assessment material how you came to the assessment decision that was made. The assessment documents should clearly show all the evidence you used to decide the learner's competence.

When you have completed an assessment, your details and the decisions you made must be recorded clearly on the assessment material. You must sign, date and stamp the assessment material when the learner is confirmed as competent. This is required assessment practice and is important for moderation and in case of an appeal against the assessment decision.

Assessment documentation is to be retained for a period of two years from the date of assessment to make sure that there is an assessment audit trail.

Technical Verification

A technical verifier must be used when it is necessary to verify that evidence is authentic to the learner and/or to verify that the learner is competent in the technical requirements of the unit standard(s). A technical verifier is an industry expert, and is employed in a role which enables them to testify to the learner's competence. Contact a MITO National Assessor for information about technical verification in the area you are assessing.

Assessment Reporting

You must comply with the following assessment reporting requirements:

- Report all 'achieved' results for assessments you have conducted as a MITO Registered Assessor to MITO in the MITO Assessor Portal
- Report all assessment results to MITO within 10 working days of the assessment being completed
- If you are assessing for a school that holds a MITO MoU, report assessment results to the school within 10 working days of the assessment being completed.

Assessment Appeals

Learners who believe they have grounds to object to an assessment result can appeal to MITO. In the case of a unit standard assessment, the appeal must be received at MITO's National Office within 20 working days of when the assessment took place.

MITO will manage the appeal process, which may include the involvement of technical expert(s).

You will be notified of MITO's decision which is final, and may only be overturned through MITO's formal complaints process. Contact MITO for more information about the complaints process.

Contact Us

If you need any help or advice about your role as an assessor or about how to assess, please contact a MITO National Assessor on 0800 88 21 21.

Moderation

The purpose of moderation is to ensure that assessment is consistent with the National Standard, that it is fair and valid, and that all assessors are making consistent judgements about learner performance. MITO moderation includes postal moderation and moderation observation visits. MITO will notify you of your moderation requirements via email.

For more information about our moderation requirements, please contact a MITO National Moderator on 0800 88 21 21.

Material for Moderation

You must submit assessment material and evidence for the number of assessments requested. The evidence you submit must enable the moderator to see how you arrived at your assessment decision and should include assessment material and/or evidence used during the assessment process and for recording and reporting results.

Where you are requested to submit material for moderation by post, you must provide the assessment material and evidence to MITO National Office on or before the submission due date.

Material submitted for moderation must include:

- the assessed material
- assessor evidence guides or marking guides
- the assessment summary or reporting form.

Any assessment evidence that you submit for moderation must be identifiable as authentic to the learner who was assessed. All commercially sensitive information (such as company or learner name) should be removed from the material.

MITO prefers to receive material for moderation electronically, i.e. scanned and emailed. Moderation material posted to MITO should be copies, not original material. Material submitted for moderation will not be returned unless requested.

You will receive a Moderation Outcome Report from MITO when the moderation has been completed. MITO upholds the intellectual property rights and copyrights of other organisations and keeps all moderation outcomes and recommendations confidential.

Moderation visits

Moderation visits may be conducted to observe training and assessment in practice. You will be informed if a visit is scheduled.

‘Not at the National Standard’ Moderation Outcomes

If your assessment decision is not in keeping with the requirements of the unit standard or is not consistent with the National Standard, this is recorded as ‘Not at the National Standard’ (NANS).

If the reason for the NANS outcome is considered minor, a National Moderator will provide you with advice in the Moderation Outcome Report and/or moderation outcome cover letter. You will be expected to take corrective action. If it is significant, the National Moderator may specify requirements for assessment that you must follow for future assessment, and/or may require further submissions for moderation. A visit by a National Moderator may be scheduled to observe you conducting assessment and provide guidance.

Your non-compliance with the national standard may indicate an issue that is also affecting other assessors. This is a valuable moderation outcome for MITO because it enables MITO to provide assessors with the necessary guidance, or to take the necessary action (which may even be to change the unit standard) to bring about consistent interpretation and assessment. The aim of moderation is continual improvement.

If the above steps have been taken and you do not meet standards of assessment satisfactory to MITO further action will be taken which will include notification by MITO's Manager Quality and Compliance and may include de-registration.

Appealing a Moderation Outcome

If you believe you have grounds to object to a moderation outcome you can, after discussing the matter with the National Moderator, appeal the outcome to the Manager Quality and Compliance.

Your appeal must:

- be in writing
- be made using the Moderation Outcome Appeal form addressed to the Manager Quality and Compliance
- be received by MITO within 20 working days of the National Moderator sending out written notification of the moderation outcome
- state that it is an appeal, the reason(s) for the appeal and/or the rationale for changing the moderation outcome.

The Manager Quality and Compliance will receive your appeal and manage the appeal process, which may include the involvement of the National Moderator and technical expert(s).

The Manager Quality and Compliance's decision will be notified to you and to the National Moderator within 10 working days of your appeal being received by MITO. Their decision is final, and may only be overturned through MITO's formal complaints process. Contact MITO for information about the complaints process.

Non-compliance with the Moderation System

If you do not comply with MITO's moderation requests, this is deemed to be non-compliance.

It is recognised that in exceptional circumstances non-compliance may occur. However non-compliance with the moderation system is a breach of the conditions of your registration and in cases of ongoing non-compliance MITO will take action which may result in non-renewal of your registration, or de-registration.

You will be notified of the non-compliance action taking place including non-renewal and de-registration procedures by MITO's Manager Quality and Compliance.

Appeals against non-renewal and de-registration

You may appeal to MITO's Chief Executive against a non-renewal or de-registration decision.

Your appeal must:

- be in writing

- state that it is an appeal of a decision about your non-renewal or de-registration decision

- be received within 20 working days of MITO sending out the letter with notification of the decision.
